

About the Platform

Project Dard is an academic discussion platform built for scientific discussion. Every week, we post a new topic —ranging from politics and technology to philosophy and social issues—inviting public discussion among youth. The aim is to foster respectful, thoughtful, and solution-driven dialogue that can lead to research collaborations, policy ideas, or community initiatives.

Comments